Read the story about Hedgehog and Tortoise

Hedgehog and Tortoise were the best of friends.

They wanted to give each other a great, big hug.

But they weren't allowed to touch.

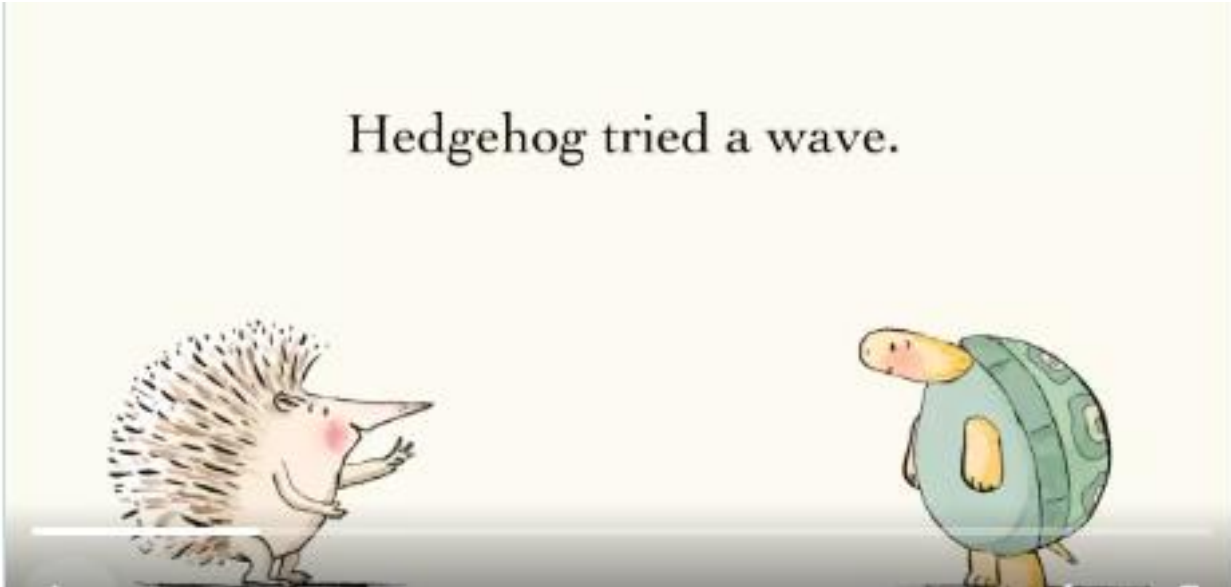

“Don’t worry,” said Owl.

“There are lots of ways to show
someone you love them.”

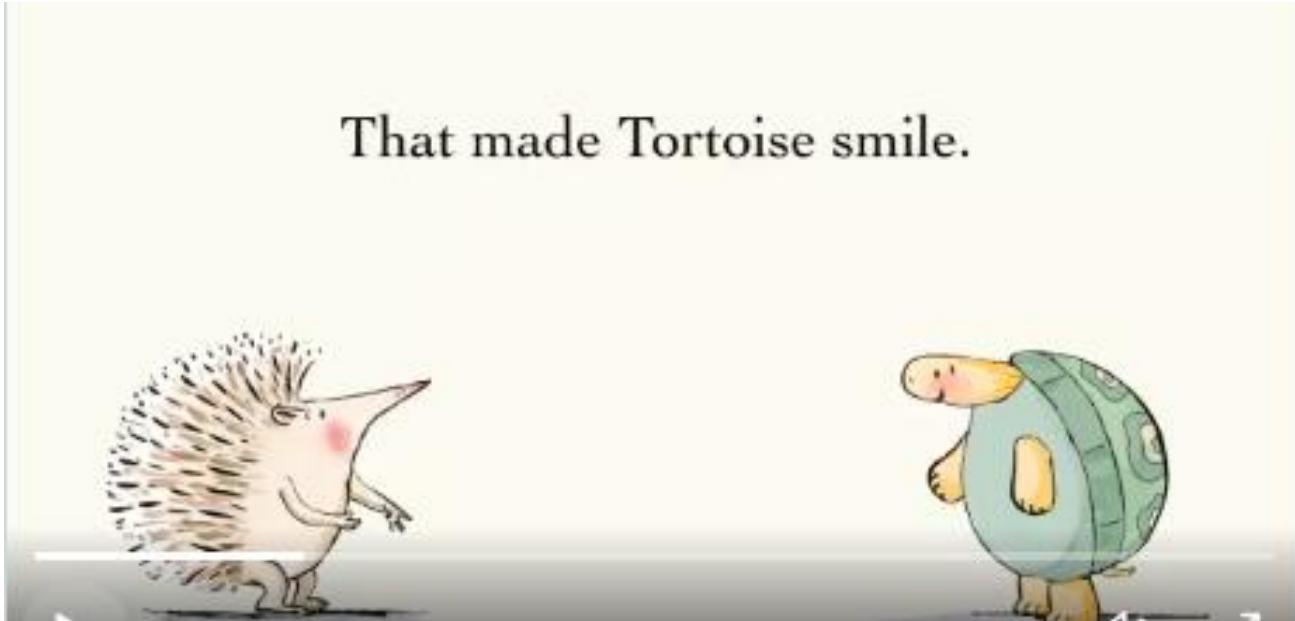

Hedgehog tried a wave.

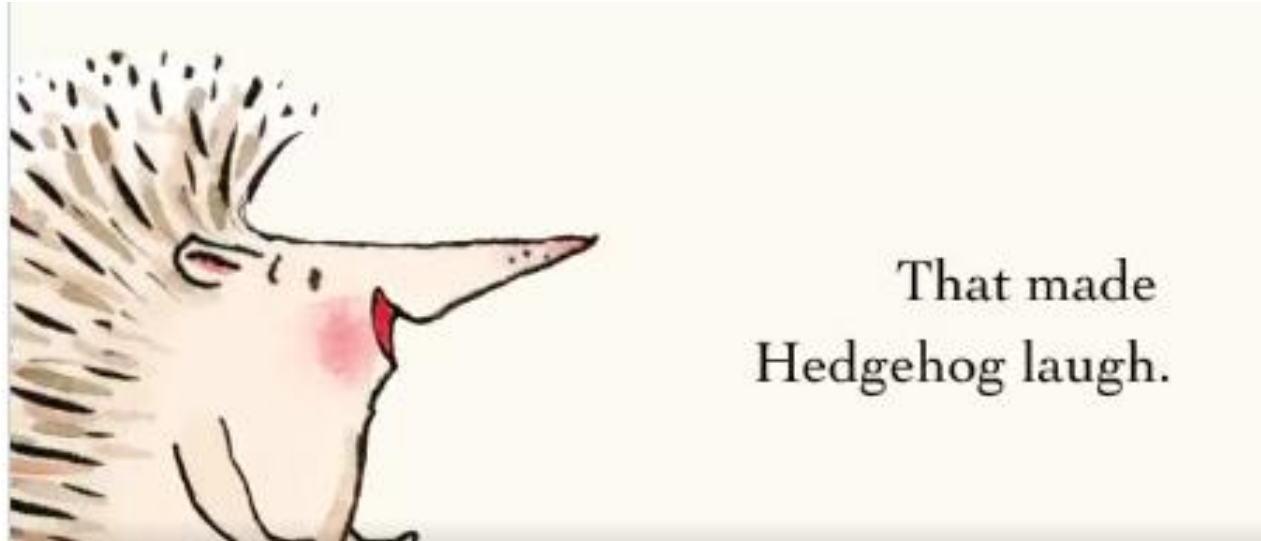

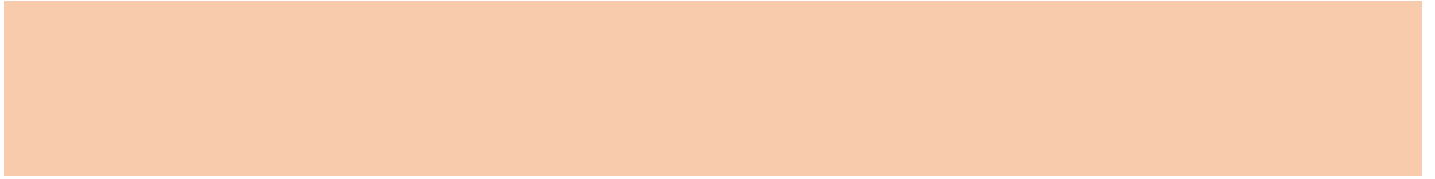

That made Tortoise smile.

Tortoise made a funny face.

Tortoise wrote a letter.

And Hedgehog wrote one back.

And when Tortoise did a little dance,
Hedgehog joined in,

Hedgehog blew a kiss
across the gap between them.

Tortoise saw it, and caught it, and kept it.
And sent three back again.

Tortoise sang a song.
Hedgehog played along.

so that everyone would know they were friends . . .

They could not touch.

Activity

Make a picture – it could be a drawing, painting, collage, computer drawn – however you like – to show how hedgehog and tortoise (and we could) can still show our friends and family how we care for them even though we can't get close to each other.

You might like to draw one we could photograph to give to another member of our class who is in a different bubble?

Or for Granny or Grandad?

Someone else you have not been able to get close to and you are missing?

Plenary

- Show your picture to the class and explain who it is for and how you miss them.
