SPaG Starter

We looked at the opposites of adjectives this week.

Let's think of some more opposites.

What is the opposite of sad?

awake?

fast?

SPaG Starter

We can add a prefix (a bit to the front of a word) to some words which changes it to mean the opposite.

un-

What does happy mean?

Put un- on the front - unhappy

What does that mean?

un

Put un- on the front of these words to change the mean to the opposite.

zip

well

fold clear pack

kind fair

Lesson Aims

- I can use my notes and drawings to help me write sentences

- I can use 'and' or 'because' to join two ideas.

I used my drawings and notes to write instructions on how to care for a dragon.

I tried to use some conjunctions to make my sentences more interesting.

Can you spot them as I read?
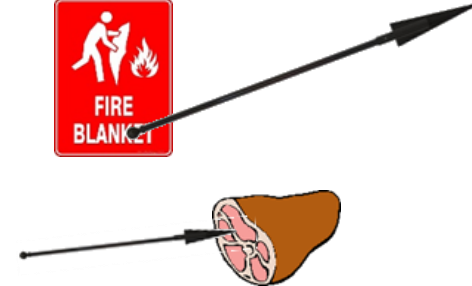

How to care for a baby dragon

Has your dragon egg hatched?
If so you need to find out how to care for it – quickly!

You will need protective clothes because a baby dragon is dangerous. Buy some long gauntlets, goggles and fireproof boots.

Dragons breathe fire so you will need a fire blanket and a long pole to feed the dragon but not one made of Wood or it will burn.

Feed your dragon fresh meat. They eat a lot. Your dragon will need feeding six times a day. Don't get too close!

Find a suitable bed for your dragon.
Most dragons live in caves because they like the dark so find a dark, damp place for it to sleep.

Keep your baby dragon clean by using a hose pipe to wash him and buy the largest wheelbarrow you can find as a baby dragon does a lot of poo!

Use your pictures and notes to write instructions on how to care for a dragon.

Try to join two ideas with 'and' or 'because'.
Remember only one and in a sentence.

There is a reminder sheet in case your pictures are not very clear.

Plenary

Read your instructions

Have you remembered to start each sentence with a capital letter?

Does each finish with a full stop?

Have you used 'and' or 'because'?
