Key aims/Ideas

Draw from observation

I can look carefully and draw what I see

I can keep looking back to check

Our English book is about a bicycle. So today we will look carefully at a bicycle to draw one.

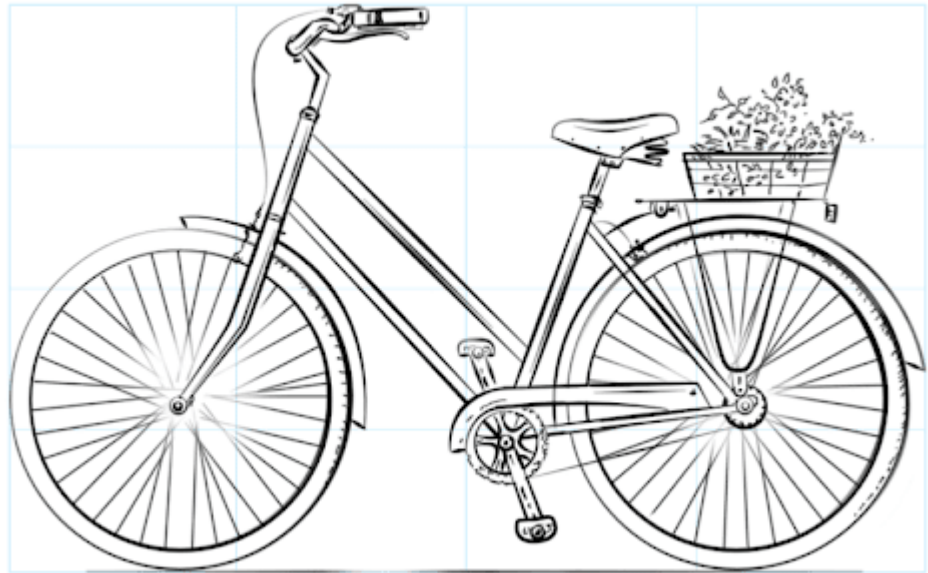

- Before we draw a real bicycle we will look carefully at a picture of a bicycle and see what we think will be difficult as well as looking at how each piece is joined to another.

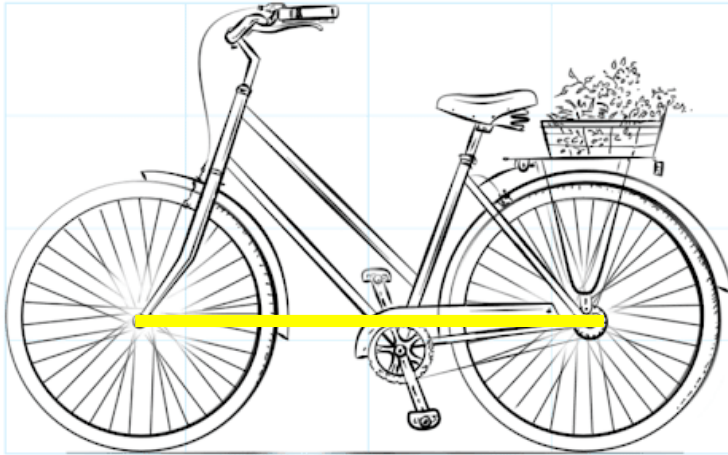

How is the wheel joined to the saddle?

How are the handlebars attached to the bike?

Look at the chain and pedals.

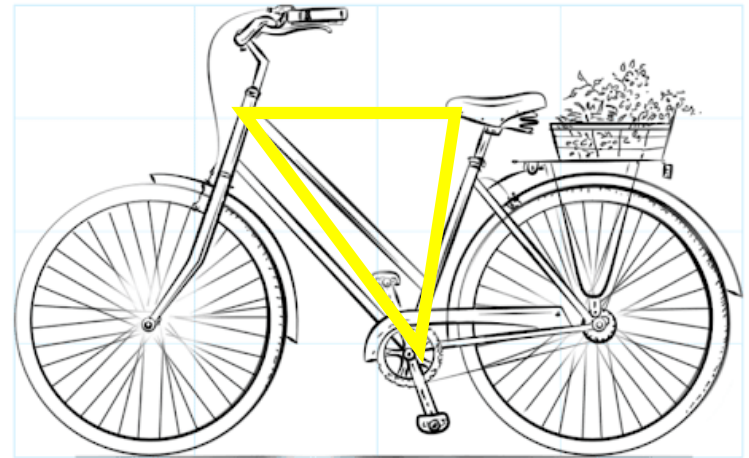

Take your time to study the picture.

The centres of the wheels are level.

- The frame has a triangle shape

Observational drawing

- We will draw in pencil
- No rubbers so we will sketch lightly to begin with so we can go over any mistakes.
- Turn your book sideways – landscape.
- Keep looking, don't guess!

Plenary

Open the books and leave on the floor. Class to walk around and look at them – in silence.

When everyone sitting again. Take turns to feedback points to rest of the class – anonymously, remembering everyone has tried their best so we won't say unkind words but will focus on what we liked.

I liked because

E.g. I liked this saddle because it is shaded well so looks the right shape.
