Did someone put their bike in a tree?

How can they get it out?

Looking at this bike, has it been there a long time? How can you tell?

Answers

This bike was left propped up against a tree by a boy sometime in the 1950's. He was playing with his siblings in a nearby pond and forgot it when he went back home.

In 1995 he returned to his old family home to visit his sister who still lived there, and when they went for a walk he found his bike-grown into the tree it was left against all those years ago!
